Dear Nancy:

The letters were just great, and thanks for getting them out so promptly.

I am writing to extend an invitation to you to attend the Faculty Breakfast at 9:15 A.M. at the Emory Room on Thursday, April 5, 1973, if you are planning to attend the Institute; and I hope you are planning to attend at least all if not just a part of it.

Peyton says the momentum is picking up for the meeting and I would guess we should have a good group for both meetings. I do hope so.

I am planning to drive to Atlanta on Wednesday, April 4th and will spend the afternoon browsing around the Emory Law Library. Then I will spend all day Thursday at the meeting and will have to leave on Friday noon, so will not attend the Class K User meeting. We have completely stopped our cataloging and have not done any classification.

I am spending many hours just getting sets together, placing them on cards (you know we have 65,000 volumes to move), so that is taking my time. We will be having shelving plans set up soon.

Some "wag" wrote over the architect's plan which has been up in the Student lounge for some time now: Pearl's Palace. I hope when we move in it will look like a Palace. Anything will be better than what we are in now.

I do hope to see you in Atlanta. I would appreciate your letting me know your plans.

Most cordially,

Pearl
